Chaim Potok
Confronting Modernity
Through the Lens of Tradition
Edited by Daniel Walden
“I can think of nobody better than Daniel Walden to edit this outstanding collection of essays about the late writer Chaim Potok. As the founding editor of Studies in American Jewish Literature, Walden has been a shaping hand in the direction of American Jewish literary study. Chaim Potok was a popular writer during his lifetime; this collection makes a persuasive case that he is also an important one.”
—Sanford Pinsker, Franklin and Marshall College

S. Weir Mitchell, 1829–1914
Philadelphia’s Literary Physician
Nancy Cervetti
“This book is the first modern, reliable biography of S. Weir Mitchell based on thorough research and careful, scholarly use of a wide range of primary sources. The research and interpretation here are highly original. Nancy Cervetti’s biography uses new information about Mitchell to provide a complex and fascinating interpretation of his life, his work, and his significance to American literature and culture.”
—Gregory Eiselein, Kansas State University

William Parks
The Colonial Printer
in the Transatlantic World of the Eighteenth Century
A. Franklin Parks
“This very welcome biography gathers up a surprising number of scholarly notes on and references to the important early American printer and newspaper publisher William Parks, and then adds new documentary evidence to the pile. . . . Readers will be glad to get to know William Parks. He is an engaging and interesting man, a man of vision who enlightened two colonies.”
—Jim May, editor, Eighteenth-Century Intelligencer

differences explores the problematic of differences in texts ranging from the literary and the visual to the political and the social. The journal highlights theoretical debates across the disciplines that address the ways concepts and categories of difference—notably but not exclusively gender—operate within culture.
