AMERICAN SPEECH

A Quarterly of Linguistic Usage

Volume 77, Number 3, Fall 2002

ADS Annual Lecture. I’m Off to Philadelphia in the Morning: A Scotsman Looks at Dialect in America
RONALD MACAULAY 227

Third Person Plural Present Tense Markers in London Prisoners’ Depositions, 1562–1623
LAURA WRIGHT 242

Sounding Cajun: The Rhetorical Use of Dialect in Speech and Writing
SYLVIE DUBOIS and BARBARA M. HORVATH 264

Street-Conscious Copula Variation in the Hip Hop Nation
H. SAMY ALIM 288

The Reduplicative Copula is is
MICHAEL SHAPIRO and MICHAEL C. HALEY 305

Among the New Words
WAYNE GLOWKA and MEGAN MELANÇON 313

RESPONSE
Do Native Speakers Know What Words Mean?
WAYNE P. LAWRENCE 325

Intuition, Data, and Meaning
RONALD R. BUTTERS 327

REVIEW
Language Myths, edited by Laurie Bauer and Peter Trudgill
ROBERT S. WACHAL 329

MISCELLANY
Joe Hill’s pie in the sky and Swedish Reflexes of the Land of Cockaigne
WILLIAM SAYERS 331