Become an Associate of the
Center for Black Music Research

CBMR Individual Associates and CBMR Institutional Associates are auxiliary organizations of the Center for Black Music Research, dedicated to the preservation and perpetuation of knowledge about the music of black Americans and to the effective integration of black music history and performance of black musicians into the American and international mainstream.

CBMR Individual Associates is comprised of individual scholars, musicians, and lay persons interested in the Center's mission and goals. CBMR Institutional Associates consists of schools and departments of music in American colleges and universities.

CBMR Associate Benefits:

- Black Music Research Journal—biannual
- CBMR Digest—biannual
- CBMR Monographs—annual
- Black Music Repertory Ensemble in Concert, a double-cassette recording (CBMR002-C) drawn from two 1991 performances (available only while supplies last)
- Complimentary registration at biennial CBMR National Conferences on Black Music Research (Individual Associates only)
- Prospective Candidates List—quarterly (for Institutional Associates only)

A CBMR Individual Associate membership is $75 annually
A CBMR Institutional Associate membership is $150 annually

Order your CBMR Associate membership by sending prepayment or institutional purchase order (payable to CBMR/Columbia College) to:

Center for Black Music Research
Columbia College Chicago
600 South Michigan Avenue
Chicago, Illinois 60605-1996
(312) 663-1600 ext. 559
Black Hymnody
A HYMNOLOGICAL HISTORY OF THE AFRICAN-AMERICAN CHURCH
Jon Michael Spencer
Our songs, more than creeds or doctrinal statements, reveal who we are, where we came from, and our philosophy of life. The hymns sung by black Christians, then, constitute an essential aspect of their history and culture. Black Hymnody analyzes the types of hymns that black Christians have written, adapted, adopted, and sung during the evolution of the black church in America and brings to life the histories of that church's major denominations.
256 pages, ISBN 0-87049-745-6, $29.95 cloth
ISBN -760-X, $18.95 paper

Thomas W. Talley's
Negro Folk Rhymes
A new expanded edition
Edited, with an introduction, by Charles K. Wolfe
360 pages, illustrations, music
ISBN 0-87049-673-5, $34.95

The University of Tennessee Press
KNOXVILLE 37996-0325
Postage: $3 for first book; $.75 for each additional book
The Rise of Gospel Blues
The Music of Thomas Andrew Dorsey in the Urban Church
MICHAEL W. HARRIS, University of Iowa

"Harris...skillfully demonstrates the ways that music can serve ideology, whether as 'survival texts' or as an emblem of class warfare. He also captures the union of piety and commerce inherent in American fundamentalism."—New York Times Book Review

Most observers believe that gospel music has been sung in African-American churches since their organization in the late 1800s. Nothing could be further from the truth as Michael Harris's history of gospel blues reveals. Tracing the rise of gospel blues as seen through the career of its founding figure, Thomas Andrew Dorsey, winner of the 1992 National Trustees Award from the National Academy of Recording Arts and Sciences, Harris not only tells the story of the most prominent person in the advent of gospel blues, but also the story of the development of religious and social thought in African-American urban culture from the end of the nineteenth century through the Great Migration period.

Gospel blues has been a major force in African-American churches and religion since the end of the 1930s. Through the voices of singers such as Mahalia Jackson, gospel blues has been and continues to be an important influence in the development of American popular music.

1992 360 pp.; 31 b&w illus. $29.95

To order, please send check or money order to: Social Sciences Marketing, Dept. KLH, Oxford University Press, 200 Madison Avenue, New York, NY, 10016. To order by major credit card, please call toll-free 1-800-451-7556.