From an expert in late Ottoman history and eastern Anatolia comes a revealing look at why the Holocaust and the Armenian tragedy were different in many significant ways.

DR. YÜCEL GÜÇLÜ makes a powerful case that key evidence making such an equivalency is either in doubt or demonstrably false, and that those who seek to equalize the two historical events are motivated more by politics than by facts.

Available at Amazon.com

191 pages, Paperback $29.99
The oldest journal in its field in the United States, Comparative Literature explores issues in literary history and theory. Drawing on a variety of theoretical and critical approaches, the journal represents a wide-ranging look at the intersections of national literatures, global literary trends, and theoretical discourse.

George E. Rowe, editor

---

Subscribe today.

Online access, RSS feeds, and table-of-contents alerts are available with a print subscription (four issues each year).

Individuals: $40
Students: $28 (photocopy of valid student ID required)

To order, please visit dukepress.edu/complit.
Postage applies for international customers.