AIMS AND SCOPE
Cultural Politics is an international, refereed journal that explores the global character and effects of contemporary culture and politics. Cultural Politics invites articles on: representation and visual culture; modernism and postmodernism; media, film and communication; popular and elite art forms; the politics of production and consumption; language; ethics and aesthetics; desire and psychodynamic art and aesthetics; the culture industry; technologies; academics and the academy; cities, architecture and the spatial; global capitalism; Marxism; value and ideology; the military, weapons and war; power, authority and institutions; global governance and democracy; political parties and social movements; human rights; community and cosmopolitanism; transnationalism and change; the global public sphere; the body; identity and performance; heterosexuality, transsexual, lesbian and gay sexualities; race, blackness, whiteness and ethnicity; the social insecurities of the global and the local: patriarchy, feminism and gender studies; postcolonialism; and political activism.

Cultural Politics invites papers comprising a broad range of subjects, methodological approaches, and historical and social events. Such papers may take the form of articles and case studies, review essays, interviews, book reviews, field reports, interpretive critiques and visual essays.

Cultural Politics enjoys an agreement with the Chinese journal Cultural Studies, published in Beijing, that allows selected articles to be published in both journals nearly simultaneously, thus furthering intellectual exchange between English and Chinese-speaking academics and artists.
