The University of Virginia Press invites submissions for the 2011 WALKER COWEN MEMORIAL PRIZE in Eighteenth-Century Studies

$5,000 and publication

The prize is awarded annually to the author of a scholarly book-length manuscript in eighteenth-century studies, including the Americas and the Atlantic world. Submissions may be in history (including history of science), literature, philosophy, or the arts. The winner of the Cowen Prize will receive $5,000 and publication of the manuscript by the University of Virginia Press. The prize honors the late Walker Cowen, second Director of the Press from 1969 until his death in 1987. To be considered for the 2011 award, manuscripts should be postmarked no later than November 1, 2011. Manuscripts will not be returned. The winning manuscript will be announced in April 2012.

Common Knowledge is devoted to what its editors have termed “civilian scholarship.” Its mission is to open lines of communication between the academy and the community of thoughtful people outside its walls. Challenging the ways we think about theory and its relevance to humanity, the journal has recently featured a six-part symposium on quietism, as well as turned its attention to such varied topics as peace studies, the conciliation of worldviews, and Pope Benedict XVI’s denunciation of relativism.
