Defining Culinary Authority
THE TRANSFORMATION OF COOKING IN FRANCE, 1650–1830
Jennifer J. Davis

Combining rigorous archival research with social history and cultural studies, Davis interrogates the development of cooking aesthetics and practices by examining the propagation of taste, the training of cooks, and the policing of the culinary marketplace in the name of safety and good taste.

Teaching French Women Writers of the Renaissance and Reformation

COLETTE H. WINN, ed.

"An excellent volume of essays on an increasingly important topic of research and instruction."

—Edwin M. Duval
Yale University

Teaching French Women Writers of the Renaissance and Reformation considers the issues critical to teaching recently rediscovered writers, such as Hélisenne de Crenne, Pernette Du Guillet, and Louise Labé, who have enriched the literary canon by offering alternative perspectives on the social, political, and religious issues of early modern France.

The volume considers techniques for reading women's writing alongside the texts of their male contemporaries and offers guidance on incorporating a range of resources into the classroom.

A Tale of Ritual Murder in the Age of Louis XIV
The Trial of Raphaël Lévy, 1669
PIERRE BIRNBAUM Translated by ARTHUR GOLDHAMMER
“In his brilliant reconstruction, Birnbaum’s study takes its place among other classic accounts of ritual murder and blood libel trials from the middle ages and modernity.”

The Aesthetics of Hate
Far-Right Intellectuals, Antisemitism, and Gender in 1930s France
SANDRINE SANOS
“An impressive piece of intellectual and cultural history. The book’s demonstration of the mutual constitution of antisemitism and colonial racism is one of its chief assets and achievements.”
—Judith Surkis, Institute for Advanced Study
