TRIUMPH over TRAGEDY in the CITY of LIGHT

“A tight, concentrated tale of adversity and survival . . . Evenhanded, at once pragmatic and inspiring.”
—The New York Times Book Review

—Douglas Brinkley, author of The Great Deluge: Hurricane Katrina, New Orleans, and The Gulf Coast

“Enlivened by period photographs of a flooded Paris, this is a capable, well-researched history of a modern city’s battle with nature.”
—Publishers Weekly

Options for Teaching

Teaching Seventeenth- and Eighteenth-Century French Women Writers

FAITH E. BEASLEY, ed.

“This collection of essays provides a wealth of information on how to teach women authors in a variety of courses. The usefulness and the fascinating content of this book realize the true potential of the Options for Teaching series.”

—Roland Racevskis
University of Iowa

The works of French women writers are crucial to courses on the early modern period and enliven many others—whether on literature, history, women's history, the history of science, philosophy, women's and gender studies, or European civilization.

Teaching Seventeenth- and Eighteenth-Century French Women Writers attempts to integrate women's work and contributions into classrooms across the curriculum.
