

Citizen Louis-Charles a novel

Lizzi Wolf, Ph.D.
University of Michigan

I am King Louis XVII, supreme monarch of France, but my realm of influence is no bigger than a dank, rat-infested storage closet in the tower of a medieval castle.

Markets of Civilization

Islam and Racial Capitalism in Algeria

MURIAM HALEH DAVIS

Theory in Forms

"Markets of Civilization provides a masterly genealogy of the twin figures of homo economicus and homo islamicus within French colonial thought and post-independence Algeria. With characteristic analytical rigor and historical nuance, Muriam Haleh Davis explores technologies of human difference alongside the place of Algeria, and of Muslims more broadly, within racial capitalism. A tour-de-force analysis, the book is a must-read for all historians concerned with race, religion, and the history of economic development." — OMNIA EL SHAKRY

Eighteenth-Century Life

Cedric D. Reverand II and Michael Edson, editors

Committed to interdisciplinary exchange, Eighteenth-Century Life addresses all aspects of European and world culture during the long eighteenth century. The most wide-ranging journal of eighteenth-century studies, it also encourages diverse methodologies—from close reading to cultural studies—and it always welcomes suggestions for review essays.
