Visualizing Interiors: The Language of Movement in the 2005 Film Pride & Prejudice
Mary Hong 189

“Chosen Representatives in the Field of Shagging”: Bridget Jones, Britishness, and Reproductive Futurism
Cecily Devereux 213

Trope Theory, Cane, and the Metaphysical Case for Genre
Katie Owens-Murphy 239

Splitting the Husk: The Day Novel and Storm Jameson’s A Day Off
Elizabeth Covington 265

Convoluted Paths: Mapping Genre in Contemporary Footsteps Travel Writing
Christopher M. Keirstead 285

Nervous Conditions, Lukács, and the Postcolonial Bildungsroman
Simon Hay 317

Neil Gaiman’s Sandman as Mythic Romance
Kathryn Hume 345

Monstrous Utopia in Toni Morrison’s Paradise
Sean Grattan 367
Battling Babylon: The “Military-Archaeology Complex” in Stargate SG-1

Shawn Malley

393

“Never the Same One Twice”: Melodrama and Repetition in Queer as Folk

Margaret E. Johnson

419

Book Review: Annette Debo and Lara Vetter’s Approaches to Teaching H.D.’s Poetry and Prose

Lheisa Dustin

443

Book Review: Ronald Schleifer’s Modernism and Popular Music

T. Austin Graham

449