

GENRE

FORMS OF DISCOURSE AND CULTURE

Volume 54, Number 2

July 2021

Big, Ambitious Novels by Twenty-First-Century Women, Part 2

Edited by Courtney Jacobs and James Zeigler

- Telling Stories That Never End: Valeria Luiselli, the Refugee Crisis
at the US-Mexico Border, and the Big, Ambitious Archival Novel
Valentina Montero Román 167
- “An Indigenous Sovereignty of the Imagination”: Reenvisioning the Great Australian Novel in Alexis Wright’s Carpentaria
Liz Shek-Noble 195
- Madeleine Thien’s Chinese Encyclopedia: Facts, Musics, Sympathies
Ivan Delazari 221
- The Structure of Scares: Art, Horror, and Immersion in Marisha Pessl’s
Night Film
Melissa C. Macero 245
- The Mom and the Many: Animal Subplots and Vulnerable Characters in Ducks, Newburyport
Ben De Bruyn 265
- Review Essay: Amanda Anderson, Rita Felski, and Toril Moi’s Character:
Three Inquiries in Literary Studies and Aaron Kunin’s Character as Form
Samuel Fallon 293

Book Review: Samuel Fallon's Paper Monsters: Persona and Literary Culture in Elizabethan England
Julianne Werlin	307
Book Review: Cara Lewis's Dynamic Form: How Intermediality Made Modernism
Louise Hornby	311