Queer Studies from Chicago

Is the Rectum a Grave?
and Other Essays
Leo Bersani
“Even readers who think they’re familiar with Leo Bersani’s career of thinking about what’s structural, impersonal, and non-relational about people will be astonished by reading these collected essays and interviews.”—Lauren Berlant, University of Chicago
Paper $25.00

Unlimited Intimacy
Reflections on the Subculture of Barebacking
Tim Dean
“Dean . . . does not make any social arguments about barebacking but rather looks at the surrounding subculture from an anthropological standpoint, attempting to unravel the point of view, motivations, and interests of its inhabitants.”—Advocate
Paper $20.00

Gay Shame
Edited by David M. Halperin and Valerie Traub
“Gay Shame is an embarrassment of riches about the riches of embarrassment. As theatrical as they are theoretical, the essays collected here remind us of what we might like to forget: the powerful role of shame in gay lives, gay politics, and gay culture.”—Joseph Litvak, Tufts University
Paper w/ DVD $29.00

The Resurrection of the Body
Pier Paolo Pasolini from Saint Paul to Sade
Armando Maggi
“A work of exquisite scholarship that argues for the crucial significance of not only the body, but of the homosexual body, to Pasolini’s exhilarating and challenging work.”—Times Higher Education
Cloth $49.00

Queer Studies

from Chicago

THE SCENE OF HARLEM CABARET
Race, Sexuality, Performance
Shane Vogel
“This study makes visceral the queer intimacies of cabaret’s everynight life and analyzes the lives of performers [like] Bricktop and Ethel Waters, poetic works by Claude McKay and Langston Hughes, and embodied movements of audiences.”—Jennifer Devere Brody, Duke University
PAPER $22.00

MANLY LOVE
Romantic Friendship in American Fiction
Axel Nissen
“Axel Nissen engagingly and definitively challenges the historical amnesia which assumes that the transatlantic uproar over the Oscar Wilde case represented the whole story of the American Victorian response to male homoeroticism.”—Lillian Faderman, author of Surpassing the Love of Men
CLOTH $45.00

MOVING POLITICS
Emotion and ACT UP’s Fight against AIDS
Deborah B. Gould
“Gould maintains that we simply can’t understand the trajectory of radical AIDS activism, from emergence and growth to crisis and dissolution, without paying attention to how the movement experienced, harnessed, and provoked emotions.”—Steven Epstein, Northwestern University
PAPER $23.00

GAY FATHERHOOD
Narratives of Family and Citizenship in America
Ellen Lewin
“The beauty and power of Ellen Lewin’s work is that she makes us see the world differently: Gay Fatherhood continues that tradition. . . . Her thoughtful observations about these men’s choices let us understand parenthood, family, and sexual identity in provocative new ways.”—John D’Emilio, University of Illinois at Chicago

MONICA L. MILLER
408 pages. 42 illustrations, paper. $24.95

“[U]ncanny feats of scholarship that illustrate ways in which the figure of the black dandy has been an elephant-in-the-room—albeit a particularly well-dressed one.”—SAN FRANCISCO BAY GUARDIAN
THE NEW YORK PUBLIC LIBRARY
LGBT VISITING SCHOLARS PROGRAM
MARTIN DUBERMAN VISITING SCHOLARS

Each year, The New York Public Library provides stipends for up to three Martin Duberman Visiting Scholars. The stipends support travel to New York City and related expenses to do research in the Library’s premier LGBT (Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, and Transgender) history collections. The travel grants awarded range from $1,000 to $8,500. The program is limited to emerging scholars—those without permanent academic appointments—or those who are unaffiliated with an academic institution. Recipients must supply a written summary of their findings upon completion of their work. Interested applicants should send a 3-5 page research proposal specifying the relevant collections at the Library for their project, a draft budget and itinerary for their planned trip, a CV, and an appropriate letter of recommendation. Applications should be sent to Jason Baumann, The New York Public Library, Stephen A. Schwarzman Building, Fifth Avenue and 42nd Street, New York, NY 10018. Applications must be received by March 1. Notice of awards will be sent beginning March 31.

The Martin Duberman Visiting Scholars are funded by the generous support of Martin Duberman and Eli Zal.

If you have any questions about the program or the Library’s collections, please contact Jason Baumann, Coordinator of Collection Assessment and LGBT Collections at jbaumann@nypl.org.
BRIDGES

A showcase for the creative work of Jewish feminists

EDITED BY CLARE KINBERG

Bridges is a showcase for the creative work of Jewish feminists. Each issue includes articles, commentary, discussions of politics and culture, scholarly essays, fiction and poetry, visual art, graphics, photography, and archival materials, including oral histories, interviews, diaries, and letters.

Special Issue: Volume 14.1—Jewish Feminists and Our Fathers

GUEST EDITED BY REBECCA ALPERT AND LAURA LEVITT

The spring 2009 issue of Bridges includes personal essays, poems, art, and review essays about Jewish feminist daughters and fathers. In this volume Jewish feminists have much to say about their own complicated relationships to their fathers. The contributions build on the legacy of Jewish feminist writing about fathers that began with Adrienne Rich’s now classic essay “Split at the Root” and take seriously the personal as well as the familial. Taken together, the works offer a critical lens. They acknowledge the legacies of patriarchy and masculinist power as well as a deep appreciation for the loving and emotional bonds that characterize these relationships.
