Orozco
The Life and Death of a Mexican Revolutionary
By Raymond Caballero
$34.95 HARDCOVER · 352 PAGES · 14 B&W ILLUS.

A long-overdue biography of a significant but little-known and less understood figure of Mexican history, Orozco tells the full story of this revolutionary’s meteoric rise and ignominious descent, including the purposely obscured circumstances of his death at the hands of a lone, murderous lawman.

Frontiers of Evangelization
Indians in the Sierra Gorda and Chiquitos Missions
By Robert H. Jackson
$36.95 HARDCOVER · 208 PAGES
24 B&W ILLUS., 2 MAPS, 23 TABLES, 2 GRAPHS

The Spanish crown wanted native peoples in its American territories to be evangelized, and to that end facilitated the establishment of missions by various Catholic orders. Frontiers of Evangelization takes a comparative approach to understanding the experiences of indigenous populations in missions on the frontiers of Spanish America.

Most Scandalous Woman
Magda Portal and the Dream of Revolution in Peru
By Myrna Ivonne Wallace Fuentes
$34.95 HARDCOVER · 376 PAGES · 18 B&W ILLUS.

In this richly nuanced portrayal of Magda Portal, historian Myrna Ivonne Wallace Fuentes chronicles the dramatic rise and fall of this prominent twentieth-century revolutionary within the broader history of leftist movements, gender politics, and literary modernism in Latin America.

Building Yanhuitlan
Art, Politics, and Religion in the Mixteca Alta since 1500
By Alessia Frassani
$45.00 HARDCOVER · 256 PAGES
108 COLOR AND B&W ILLUS., 2 MAPS, 4 TABLES

Through years of fieldwork in the state of Oaxaca, Mexico, art historian and archaeologist Alessia Frassani formulated a compelling question: How did Mesoamerican society maintain its distinctive cultural heritage despite colonization by the Spanish? In Building Yanhuitlan, she focuses on an imposing structure—a sixteenth-century Dominican monastery complex in the village of Yanhuitlan.
Puerto Rico
A US Colony in a Postcolonial World?
A special issue of
Radical History Review (#128)
Margaret Power and
Andor Skotnes, issue editors

This issue argues that the history of Puerto Rico is important, not just to Puerto Ricans on both the island and the mainland but to all in the United States and especially to progressives. Learning about Puerto Rico helps us understand better how US imperialism functions both globally and domestically. Contributors offer reading lists about Puerto Rican history, interviews with prominent figures in the Puerto Rican independence and progressive movements, and deep dives into particular aspects of Puerto Rican history.

Ethnohistory

The official journal of the American Society for Ethnohistory

Ethnohistory reflects the wide range of current scholarship inspired by anthropological and historical approaches to the human condition. Of particular interest are those analyses and interpretations that seek to make evident the experience, organization, and identities of indigenous, diasporic, and minority peoples that otherwise elude the histories and anthropologies of nations, states, and colonial empires.

The official journal of the Labor and Working-Class History Association (LAWCHA)

As a site for both historical research and commentary, Labor provides a basis for understanding the roots of our current economic dilemmas—particularly who will do the work and under what economic and political terms. Although the tradition from which Labor derives its energy has focused primarily on social movements and institutions based on industrial labor, the journal gives equal attention to other critical labor systems and social contexts, including agricultural work, slavery, unpaid and domestic labor, the informal sector, and the professions.
