

Social Science History

The Official Journal of the Social Science History Association

This interdisciplinary journal presents innovative research by historians, sociologists, anthropologists, political scientists, and demographers whose essays reflect upon the nature of the theories and methods used to make sense of past events or trends.

Recent articles

Toqueville, Marx, and American Class Structure by Walter Nugent

The Language of Class in Twentieth-Century America by Margo Anderson

Special issue

John Bodnar's The Transplanted: A Roundtable 12:3 (Fall 1988)

Introduction by Nora Faires

Articles Workers, Class, and Labor by James R. Barrett | Immigrants and Ethnics by John J. Bukowczyk | Women and Family by Donna Gabaccia, guest editor | International Dimensions by Dirk Hoerder | Response by John Bodnar

Subscription rates: $20 individuals, $50 institutions

Duke University Press / Journals
6697 College Station Durham, North Carolina 27708

THE ACADEMIC'S HANDBOOK

A. Leigh DeNeef,
Craufurd D. Goodwin,
and Ellen Stern McCrate,
editors

A truly essential guide for those planning or beginning an academic career. Details on getting a job, the tenure system, the special concerns and problems faced by women and minorities, how to write and place scholarly articles and books, and how much autonomy the new faculty member really has—these are but a few of the important and practical concerns addressed in The Academic's Handbook.

Partial contents

On getting a job

The tenure system

Academic salaries,
benefits, and taxes

Women in academia

The nuts and bolts of a lecture course

Small group teaching and the art of dialogue

Problems of special admission students

New faculty and advising

Funding academic research

On writing scholarly articles

University governance

The morality of teaching

ISBN

0-8223-0742-1,

$20.00 cloth

ISBN

0-8223-0807-X,

$ 9.95 paper

May 1988

Duke University Press
6697 College Station
Durham, North Carolina
27708

New from Duke University Press

A RUSSIAN CIVIL WAR DIARY

Alexis Babine in Saratov, 1917-1922

Donald J. Raleigh, editor

"There are very few surviving memoirs by witnesses to the tragic events in revolutionary Russia between 1917 and 1922. Babine's diary is particularly useful because it reflects the experiences and thinking of an average member of the provincial middle class. It should be read with appreciation by [those] interested in the circumstances in which the Soviet regime was born."—John Keep, University of Toronto

264 pages, maps, illustrations, index. LC 88-3967.

ISBN 0-8223-0835-5, $29.95

DEMOCRACY UNDER FIRE

Memoirs of a European Socialist

Adolf Sturmthal
Suzanne Sturmthal Russin, editor

"One of the most appealing books of memoirs anyone has written about European Social Democracy. Sturmthal (1903-1986) was a distinguished Austrian Socialist and scholar of international labor. . . . The book is bursting with wisdom about what went wrong in Europe between the wars, and how labor movements since then have lost touch with their past."—William M. Johnston, University of Massachusetts 300 pages, index.

ISBN 0-8223-0840-1, $29.95

Duke University Press
6697 College Station
Durham, North Carolina 27708