

History of Political Economy

Vol. 3, No. 1

Spring 1971

Contents

Some Personal Reminiscences of Alfred Marshall	Claude W. Guillebaud	1
Smith, Turgot, and the "Four Stages" Theory	Ronald L. Meek	9
Marxist Models of Cyclical Growth	Howard J. Sherman	28
Davidson's Theory of "Objective Value": A "Transformation" Problem	Carl G. Uhr	56
Alberuni: Eleventh-Century Iranian Malthusian?	Joseph J. Spengler	92
The Development of Ricardo's Position on Machinery	Samuel Hollander	105
The "Structure of Revolutions" in Economic Thought	Martin Bronfenbrenner	136
Labor as Scarcity in Marx's Value Theory: An Alternative Interpretation	Alexander Bajt	152
Frederic Harrison and the "Positivist" Attack on Orthodox Political Economy	Paul Adelman	170
Cournot's Demand Theory: A Reassessment	Clifford L. Fry and Robert B. Ekelund, Jr.	190
Richard Jones: A Case Study in Methodology	William L. Miller	198
Monopoly Price Discrimination in 1850: Dionysius Lardner	Donald L. Hooks	208