Space and Place in Early Modern English Theater

Special Issue Editors
Lloyd Edward Kermode and Janette Dillon

1 Experiencing the Space and Place of Early Modern Theater
Lloyd Edward Kermode

25 Taking the Measure of Global Space
Bruce R. Smith

49 “All Places Are Alike”: Marlowe’s Edward II and English Spatial Imagination
Emma Katherine Atwood

71 “Quod me nutrit me destruit”: Discovering the Abject on the Early Modern Stage
Ashley Denham Busse

99 Governing the Wolf: Soul and Space in The Merchant of Venice
Donovan Sherman

121 “Here at the Fringe of the Forest”: Staging Sacred Space in As You Like It
Helga L. Duncan

145 Making Room, Affording Hospitality: Environments of Entertainment in Romeo and Juliet
Julia Reinhard Lupton
“How Many Arts from Such a Labour Flow”: Thomas Middleton and London’s New River
Su Mei Kok

New Books across the Disciplines

Call for Submissions