Forthcoming

Vesalius and the Languages of Anatomy

Special Issue Editors
Valeria Finucci and Maurizio Rippa Bonati

“They Shall No More Be Remembered by Their Name”: Cartography, Anatomy, and the Renaissance Eponym
Jonathan Sawday

1538, A Year of Vesalian Innovation
Vivian Nutton

Teaching Anatomy in Post-Vesalian Padua: An Analysis of Student Notes
Michael Stolberg

Midwifery Anatomized: Vesalius, Dissection, and Reproductive Authority in Early Modern Italy
Jennifer F. Kosmin

The Organ of Organs: Vesalius and the Wonders of the Human Hand
Pablo Maurette

Vesalius among the Surgeons
Cynthia Klestinec

The Compounded Body: Bodily Knowledge Production in the Works of Andreas Vesalius and Edmund Spenser
Amanda Taylor

Cover:
Figure of “Sculpture” on Michelangelo’s tomb, Basilica of Santa Croce, Florence