The Journal of Middle East Women’s Studies (ISSN 1552-5864) is sponsored, funded, and housed by the Council of Middle East Studies at the Whitney and Betty MacMillan Center for International and Area Studies at Yale University. It is published three times a year by Indiana University Press. All views and conclusions are those of the authors of the articles and not necessarily those of the journal’s editorial staff, university sponsors, the Association for Middle East Women’s Studies, or Indiana University Press. For more information, visit www.jmews.org.

The Association for Middle East Women’s Studies (AMEWS) is an organization of scholars and individuals with an interest in women and gender studies in the context of the Middle East/ North Africa and beyond, including transnational and diasporic communities in Europe as well as in North and South America. AMEWS is affiliated with the Middle East Studies Association of North America, Inc. and works with academic networks around the world. Membership in AMEWS is open to anyone with an interest in Middle East or Muslim women and gender studies. A subscription to JMEWS is complimentary with membership to AMEWS. For more information, visit http://www.amews.org.

Editorial Office: Manuscripts should be submitted online at www.jmews.org. Editorial correspondence should be e-mailed to jmews@yale.edu.
