Special Issue
Strange Fruit: Lynching, Visuality, and Empire

Hank Willis Thomas
In collaboration with Cornell Institute for Digital Collections, the J.H. Clarke Africana Library of Cornell University has recently launched a bold new project: the Database of Contemporary African Artists. This pioneering venture, will create a computerized database of contemporary African artists as well as generate a series of bio-bibliographic dictionaries, all fully illustrated. It aims to promote networking among African artists throughout the world and to encourage new initiatives in the collection, documentation, and dissemination of contemporary African art.

4 • Nka Journal of Contemporary African Art
The world’s nosiest magazine.

From Aryans in India to witches in Soweto, from necrophiliacs in Argentina to dandies in the Congo, Transition chase unusual stories across the globe. Essayists, philosophers, rappers, and novelists say things in our pages they would never say anywhere else.

Foreign Policy says we’re “important,” the Times Literary Supplement thinks we’re “urgent,” the New York Times finds us “cheeky.”

Have you been minding your own business long enough? Read Transition and see what we’ll sniff out next.
