SPEECH IN THE WESTERN STATES

The background features a map of the Western United States with several linguistic isoglosses. A solid line with an arrow points from the northwest to the southeast. A dashed line with an arrow points from the north to the south. A curved dashed line with an arrow points from the west to the east. Phonetic symbols are scattered throughout: /ɪl/ in the upper right, /eɪ/ in the middle left, and 'ts' and 'tʃ' in the lower right. A dotted line of circles runs diagonally across the bottom left.
