Teaching Law and Literature

AUSTIN SARAT, CATHRINE O. FRANK, and MATTHEW ANDERSON, eds.

“This volume provides a resource for teachers interested in learning about the field of law and literature and shows how to bring its insights to bear in their classrooms, both in the liberal arts and in law schools. The volume’s contributors investigate what constitutes law and literature and how each informs the other.”

—Richard Sherwin

The last two decades have seen a burst of renewed interest in narrative theory across many academic disciplines as scholars analyze the power of storytelling in print and other media. Teaching Narrative Theory provides a comprehensive resource for instructors who aim to help students identify and understand the distinctive features of narrativity in a text or discourse and make use of the terms and concepts of the field.

“Simply one of the most coherent and engaging academic books I’ve read in a good while.”
—Garrett Stewart
