Editors’ Introduction | Jennifer L. Holberg and Marcy Taylor 1

Commentary

English Program Assessment and the Institutional Context | John M. Ulrich 3

Articles

Liminal Spaces and Research Identity: The Construction of Introductory Composition Students as Researchers | James P. Purdy and Joyce R. Walker 9

Cluster on Multidisciplinary Approaches to Teaching Dante’s Commedia
Kirilka Stavreva, guest editor

Introduction | Christopher Kleinhenz 43

Medieval Rhetoric and the Commedia | Michelle Bolduc 49

Using Dante to Teach the Middle Ages: Examples from Medieval Southern Italian History | Joanna H. Drell 59

Teaching the Divine Comedy’s Understanding of Philosophy | Jason Aleksander 67

Suffering in Hell: The Psychology of Emotions in Dante’s Inferno | John Alcorn 77

The Triple Cord: Teaching Dante’s Divine Comedy and Creativity | Kirilka Stavreva 87

Dante in the Italian Renaissance of Art | Lisa Bixenstine Safford 97

Teaching Dante as a Visionary Prophet | Anne L. Clark 105
Virtual Cities: GIS as a Tool for the Analysis of Dante’s Commedia | Louis I. Hamilton 115

Lighting Their Own Path: Student-Created Wikis in the Commedia Classroom | Elizabeth Dolly Weber 125

Introducing Undergraduates to Books in the Age of Dante— in Twenty Minutes or Less | Melissa Conway 133

From the Classroom

Teaching Literature like a Foreign Language; or, What I Learned When I Switched Departments | Catherine Mainland 145

Pedagogical Approaches to Diversity in the English Classroom: A Case Study of Global Feminist Literature | Julie M. Barst 149

Discourses on the Vietnam War: Teaching from Many Perspectives | Bunkong Tuon 158

Reviews

Everything Old Is New Again Review of The Evolution of College English: Literacy Studies from the Puritans to the Postmoderns, by Thomas P. Miller | Yvonne Bruce 179

Notes from Post–9/11 Classrooms: Parsing Representation and Reality Review of Teaching the Literature of Today’s Middle East, by Allen Webb, with David Alvarez, Blain H. Auer, Monica Mona Eraqi, Jeffrey A. Patterson, and Vivan Steemers. | Beth Stickney 189

Contributors 199