Articles

Post-racial Preoccupations: Nella Larsen, Rachel Dolezal, and “Passing Through” the Core Curriculum | Jen McDaneld  1

“When It’s Outside of You”: Writing as Advocacy in First-Year Composition | Stephanie White  27

“Democracy’s Unfinished Business”: Rethinking How We Prepare Teachers of English | Patrick Sullivan  55

The Inevitable Mess of Translingualism: Its –ism and the Schism of Cross-Disciplinary Conflict | Missy Watson  83

Where Does Class Identity Belong? Genre Innovation as a Bridge between Class Identity and Academic Discourses | Alisa Russell  109

The Theme Course: Speculating on Its History, Surveying Current Practice, and Encouraging a Reflective Methodology | Michal Horton  135

From the Classroom

Guest Edited by Erin Busch-Grabmeyer

Broadening the Scope of Community Engagement: Student Work for Social Change with Student Activist Groups on Campus | Sarah Finn  159

Contextualizing Instruction for Struggling Writers | Lisa Nienkark  170

Remaking Relationships: Renewing the College “Family” Course through Collaborative, Feminist Pedagogy | Alexandra M. Hill and Sarah Weiger  179

Contributors  193

Editors’ Note  195