International Journal for Theory and Analysis of Literature and Communication

Volume 37, Number 2  June 2016

No Future (I)
Alastair Renfrew and Caitríona Ní Dhúill, Guest Editors

Introduction
Alastair Renfrew (Department of English Studies, Durham University) and Caitríona Ní Dhúill (Department of German, Durham University)  241

No Future or Still in Year One? Revisionist versus Lyricist Approaches to the French Revolution
Sanja Perovic (Department of French, King’s College London)  249

Lenin and Utopia
Alastair Renfrew (Department of English Studies, Durham University)  269

The Leninist Hypothesis
Peter Hitchcock (Graduate Center, City University of New York)  295

Bestowing Past and Future: The Given as Foreclosure in Marion, Derrida, and Nancy
Ryan Trimm (Department of English, University of Rhode Island)  309

Beyond the Turn: Ernst Bloch and the Future of Speculative Materialism
Cat Moir (Department of Germanic Studies, University of Sydney)  327

Notes on Contributors  353