

poetics today

International Journal for Theory and Analysis of Literature and Communication

Volume 42, Number 3 September 2021

Special Issue: The Legacy of Ricœur's Time and Narrative (1983–85):
From Plot to Experientiality

Raphaël Baroni and Adrien Paschoud, Guest Editors

Introduction: Time and Narrative, the Missing Link between the “Narrative Turn” and Postclassical Narratology?

Raphaël Baroni, University of Lausanne

Adrien Paschoud, University of Basel 327

I: Back to Ricœur's Concepts of Emplotment and Narrative Identity

Emplotment beyond the Human Scale: On Deep Time and Narrative Nonlinearity

Marco Caracciolo, Ghent University 341

Mimesis and Experience: A Platonic Perspective on Ricoeur's
Time and Narrative

Jonas Grethlein, Heidelberg University 361

II: From Ricœur and Beyond, Toward Nonliterary Genres

Historical Discourse and Narrativity

Philippe Carrard, University of Vermont and Dartmouth College 381

Another Way to Tell the News, Another Way to Read the News:
Immersion and Information in Narrative Journalism

Marie Vanoost, University of Louvain 403

Configuration and Emplotment: Converging or Opposite Paradigms for Storytelling?

Raphaël Baroni, University of Lausanne 425

Book Reviews

Review of John Arthos, Hermeneutics after Ricoeur
Claire Fauvergue, College international de philosophie 449

Review of John Pier et al., eds., Jan Mukařovský: Écrits 1928–1946
James W. Underhill, Rouen University 452

Review of Nathan K. Hensley and Philip Steer, eds.,
Ecological Form: System and Aesthetics in the Age of Empire
Justine Pizzo, University of Southampton 461

Notes on Contributors 467