Statement of Purpose

positions offers a new forum of debate for all concerned with the social, intellectual, and political events unfolding in East Asia and within the Asian diaspora. Profound political changes and intensifying global flows of labor and capital in the late twentieth century are rapidly redrawing national and regional borders. These transformations compel us to rethink our priorities in scholarship, teaching, and criticism.

Mindful of the dissolution of the discursive binary East and West, positions advocates placing cultural critique at the center of historical and theoretical practice. The global forces that are reconfiguring our world continue to sustain formulations of nation, gender, class, and ethnicity. We propose to call into question those still-pressing, yet unstable, categories by crossing academic boundaries and rethinking the terms of our analysis. These efforts, we hope, will contribute toward informed discussion both in and outside the academy.

positions’ central premise is that criticism must always be self-critical. Critique of another social order must be as self-aware as commentary on our own. Likewise, we seek critical practices that reflect on the politics of knowing and that connect our scholarship to the struggles of those whom we study. All these endeavors require that we account for positions as places, contexts, power relations, and links between knowledge and knowers as actors in existing social institutions. In seeking to explore how theoretical practices are linked across national and ethnic divides, we hope to construct other positions from which to imagine political affinities across the many dimensions of our differences. positions is an independent refereed journal. Its direction is taken at the initiative of its editorial collective as well as through encouragement from its readers and writers.

Acknowledgments

positions acknowledges with gratitude the financial support of the Chao Center for Asian Studies at Rice University. Other generous contributors include the Office of the Director of the Jackson School of International Relations, the Office of the Associate Dean of Social Science, and the Graduate School.
Submissions
Manuscripts and letters should be addressed to Tani Barlow, Senior Editor, positions, MS #265, Rice University, 6100 Main Street, Houston, TX 77005-1892; e-mail: positions@rice.edu; Web site: positions.rice.edu. All manuscripts must be double-spaced, including quotations and endnotes, and blinded throughout. For single submissions, please submit only an electronic copy in Microsoft Word by e-mail. Also submit an abstract and keywords at the time of initial submission. Please visit the Web site for a detailed style guide.

Subscriptions

Abstracts
positions is abstracted/indexed in Academic Search Premier, Arts and Humanities Citation Index, Bibliography of Asian Studies, Contemporary Culture Index, Current Abstracts, Current Contents/Arts and Humanities, Iowa Guide, Magazines for Libraries, MLA Bibliography, and SocINDEX.

Permissions
Photocopies for course or research use that are supplied to the end user at no cost may be made without explicit permission or fee. Photocopies that are provided to the end user for a fee may not be made without payment of permission fees to Duke University Press. Address requests for permission to republish copyrighted material to Permissions Coordinator, permissions@dukeupress.edu.

Advertisements
Direct inquiries about advertising to Journals Advertising Coordinator, journals_advertising@dukeupress.edu.

Volume 17, Number 3, Winter 2009
Copyright 2009 by Duke University Press
ISSN 1067-9847