The Spirits and the Law
VODOU AND POWER IN HAITI
Kate Ramsey

“Kate Ramsey explores the links between the construction of Vodou as malicious magic or a progress-impeding force and the penalizing of superstitious practices by the Haitian state. This brilliantly argued and exhaustively researched study examines questions of prohibition and denial that are omitted by other works on Haitian popular religion.”—J. Michael Dash, New York University

Troubling Vision
PERFORMANCE, VISUALITY, AND BLACKNESS
Nicole R. Fleetwood

“What kind of fetish is the black body, and how do traditional logics of racial visibility reproduce its ‘troubling’ presence across representational genres and pop cultural forms? Nicole Fleetwood has crafted a truly powerful and compellingly interdisciplinary answer to those interconnected questions.”—John L. Jackson Jr., University of Pennsylvania

“Quite simply one of the best sources of new ideas in political thought, social motion, and human mentality.”
—Andrew Ross, New York University

The South Atlantic Quarterly presents bold analyses of the current scene—national, cultural, intellectual—worldwide. Recent special issues include “Global Christianity, Global Critique,” “Theory Now,” and “Sovereignty, Indigeneity, and the Law.”

In 2011 the journal will introduce a new section, “Against the Day,” focusing on contemporary political events and modes of resistance.
