Primeiro de Maio

Dia grande e cruel a memória operária,
Hino bramido de Paz, hino cantos de guerra,
A Saladura de Amor que se fizesse imortal...

Esta fábrica em si ao mesmo tempo outora
A presa de dor ao coração do Povo,
E cenários de Odlo aos soadores da Terra!

Ouvi gota alta, suas horizontes vaga,
Nunca mais em que se vi o Mundo Comunista,
Os lámbreuses entres os mortos de Chicago!
MASTERS AND LORDS
Mid-19th-Century U.S. Planters and Prussian Junkers
SHEARER DAVIS BOWMAN
Bowman surveys the economic, social, and political histories of the owners of slave plantations in the Southern states of the U.S. and the proprietors of manorial estates in the provinces of Prussian East Elbia from the seventeenth and sixteenth centuries respectively.

WHEN THE OLD LEFT WAS YOUNG
Student Radicals and America's First Mass Movement, 1929-1941
ROBERT COHEN
Adding to the emerging portrait of political life in the 1930s, this book offers the first comprehensive history of the first American mass student insurgency, led primarily by young Communists, which was both an antiwar campaign and a movement championing a broader and more egalitarian vision of the welfare state than that of the New Dealers.
1993 456 pp. $55.00

THE HOLOCAUST IN HISTORICAL CONTEXT
Volume 1: The Holocaust and Mass Death before the Modern Age
STEVEN T. KATZ
"Promises to be one of the most important works in the area of Holocaust studies. It will certainly inspire much rethinking in the field and serve as a source of scholarly stimulation."—Elie Wiesel.
March 1994 900 pp. $55.00

LOVE AND THEFT
Blackface Minstrelsy and the American Working Class
ERIC LOTT
"Terrifically smart and unexpectedly timely."—New York Times. Lott makes an incisive, provocative and stunning analysis of the complex and contradictory ways in which minstrelsy embodied and acted out the class, racial and sexual politics of its historical moment.
—Hazel Carby, Yale University.

ALTERNATIVE PATHS
Soviets and Americans, 1917-1920
DAVID W. McFADDEN
"Pathbreaking....The most remarkable nuance of the book is its focus on the efforts of the military, economic, and political emissaries of both nations who proposed concrete responses to specific problems' while the policymakers were seeking denouement to the more chaotic considerations of WWI."—Choice.

BECOMING MEXICAN AMERICAN
Ethnicity, Culture and Identity in Chicano Los Angeles, 1900-1945
GEORGE J. SÁNCHEZ
"A sumptuous book—informative, readable, and passionate. Here, at last, is the true successor to Carey Williams' North From Mexico. A brilliant voice from a new generation continues the saga."
—Richard Rodriguez, author of Hunger of Memory.

CULTURE/POWER/HISTORY
A Reader in Contemporary Social Theory
EDITED BY NICHOLAS B. DIRKS, GEOFF ELEY, AND SHERRY B. ORTNER

Culture/Power/History brings together twenty essays, both classic and new, that address Foucault's "new economy of power relations" in a number of different, contestatory directions. The book is introduced by a major synthetic essay by the editors, which calls attention to the most significant issues enlivening theoretical discourse today.

THE NATION AND ITS FRAGMENTS
Colonial and Postcolonial Histories
PARTHA CHATTERJEE

In this book the prominent theorist Partha Chatterjee looks at the creative and powerful results of the nationalist imagination in Asia and Africa that are posited not on identity but on difference with the nationalism propagated by the West. Arguing that scholars have been mistaken in equating political nationalism with nationalism as such, he shows how anticolonialist nationalists produced their own domain of sovereignty within colonial society well before beginning their political battle with the imperial power.

REGULATING THE SOCIAL
The Welfare State and Local Politics in Imperial Germany
GEORGE STEINMETZ

Why does the welfare state develop so unevenly across countries, regions, and localities? To answer this question, George Steinmetz explores the complex origins and development of local and national social policies in nineteenth-century Germany. The author's analysis draws on statist, Marxist, and social democratic perspectives and on theories of gender and culture.

The History of a Lesbian Community
Elizabeth Lapovksy Kennedy and Madeline D. Davis

"This should be seen as a groundbreaking book—a fascinating look at the pre-political support systems, of friendship groups extended to include ex-lovers' families and children that became one of the foundation blocks for building the gay lesbian communities of our day." — San Francisco Review of Books

THE EDUCATION OF DESIRE
Marxists and the Writing of History
Harvey J. Kaye
Foreword by Christopher Hill

"Obituaries of Marxism are premature. Harvey Kaye, in this excellent collection of essays, continues his exploration of the work accomplished by British Marxist historians. He shows the contribution such a historical approach makes not only to our knowledge but also to our democracy. And he makes his case combining conviction with elegant prose." — Daniel Singer, The Nation

1993 Lambda Literary Award Finalist

MAKING TROUBLE
Essays on Gay History, Politics, and the University
John D'Emilio

"Positioning himself firmly on the radical side, D'Emilio advocates nothing less than a total reevaluation of our society's sexual paradigm. Although a single voice is heard in these essays, D'Emilio's call for gays and lesbians to move beyond minority status to one of freedom and choice, 'to embark on new journeys of sexual definition,' may well be the rallying cry for renewed activism in the struggle for social justice." — Library Journal

THE END OF THE COMMUNIST REVOLUTION
Robert V. Daniels

The End of the Communist Revolution puts Perestroika firmly in its long-term historical perspective by placing it in a broad theory of revolutionary process, within the context of Leninism, Stalinism, and Breshnevism. Providing a systematic interpretation of the Soviet experience, Daniels examines the nature of the Soviet system and the reasons for its decline and fall.

MOTHERS OF A NEW WORLD
Maternalist Politics and the Origins of Welfare States
Edited by Seth Koven and Sonya Michel

In contemporary American political life, parties across the spectrum scramble to stake their claims to speak on behalf of the interests of mothers, children, and families. Mothers of a New World explores the historical evolution of such claims, and their relationship to the rise of women's movements and the emergence of welfare states in Western industrializing countries.

GENDER POLITICS AND POST-COMMUNISM
Reflections from Eastern Europe and the Former Soviet Union
Edited by Nanette Funk and Magda Mueller

With an Introduction by Nanette Funk

"...Gender Politics and Post-Communism is a first attempt to give voice to women who have been silenced for decades, and as such it opens the door for a friendly conversation and better understanding between the East and the West." — The Nation

Comrades and Chicken Ranchers
The Story of a California Jewish Community
KENNETH L. KANN
This book tells the story of Petaluma, California, which was transformed over the twentieth century from a small town of Jewish chicken ranchers and radicals into the San Francisco bedroom suburb it is today. Kenneth Kann has ingeniously arranged and edited interviews with more than two hundred people.

The Chicago Pragmatists and American Progressivism
ANDREW FEFFER
In this nuanced intellectual biography of the Chicago pragmatists, Andrew Feffer retraces the story of their personal involvement in reform movements and examines how they revised contemporary political rhetoric and social theory in order to reestablish the foundations of democracy in productive and rewarding work. $32.95

John Dewey and American Democracy
ROBERT B. WESTBROOK
Winner of the 1993 Merle Curti Award in American Intellectual History. New in Paper! "A major event in the history of American letters... This book should last as the definitive word on Dewey for at least as long as Dewey lived."
—Alan Wolfe, Washington Post Book World. $16.95 paper

Appetite for Change
How the Counterculture Took On the Food Industry
Updated Edition
WARREN J. BELASCO
New in Paper! "In this lively and intelligent mixture of narrative history and cultural analysis, Belasco argues that middle-class America eats differently today than in 1950 because of the way the counterculture raised the national consciousness about food... Belasco puts food at the center of left politics in the 1960s and 1970s in a book that is both analytic and deeply nostalgic."—Joan Jacobs Brumberg, The Nation. $13.95 paper

Rediscovering Forgotten Radicals

British Women Writers, 1889–1939
Edited by Angela Ingram and Daphne Patai

"Hurrah for Angela Ingram and Daphne Patai! History is back for good in literary studies, and this splendid collection is one of the finest examples of New Intellectual History in practice."—Jane Marcus

Rediscovering Forgotten Radicals reintroduces the work of seventeen writers and activists whose common concern was radically to change the status quo. They were passionately engaged in the major political issues of their times but have been displaced from both the historical and the literary record.

Black Neighbors

Race and the Limits of Reform in the American Settlement House Movement, 1890–1945
by Elisabeth Lasch-Quinn

“A marvelous study. [Lasch-Quinn] offers both a penetrating critique of the American settlement house movement and a new story that rights the regional balance and brings African American struggles in their own behalf to the fore.”—Jacquelyn Dowd Hall

Lasch-Quinn analyzes the reluctance of the mainstream settlement house movement to extend its programs to African American communities, which, she argues, were assisted instead by a variety of alternative organizations.
