The Edward Palmer Thompson Fellowship in United States History

The Doctoral History Program at The Graduate School and University Center of The City University of New York proudly announces that Karen Sotiropoulos has received the E.P. Thompson Dissertation Fellowship in U.S. History. Ms. Sotiropoulos is at work on a dissertation titled: “Staging Race: Black Cultural Production Before the Harlem Renaissance.”

The Fellowship is named for Professor Thompson (1924-93), the distinguished British social historian, in honor of his impact on U.S. historians. It carries a stipend of $10,000, and is awarded annually to the CUNY doctoral student whose work best exemplifies the standards of scholarship exhibited by Professor Thompson in his pioneering works of social, intellectual, and political history.
