Teaching Human Rights in Literary and Cultural Studies

Edited by Alexandra Schultheis Moore and Elizabeth Swanson Goldberg

“The time for human rights and literature has clearly come. [...] The collection will help to expand thinking—and questions—about these interdisciplinary studies.”

—Domna Stanton, Graduate Center,
City University of New York

Since the adoption of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights of 1948, the discourse of human rights has expanded to include not just civil and political rights but economic, social, cultural, and, most recently, collective rights. Teaching Human Rights in Literary and Cultural Studies is a sourcebook of inventive approaches and best practices for teachers looking to make human rights the focus of their undergraduate and graduate courses.
