Reconsidering Gender, Violence, and the State

Editors’ Introduction
Lisa Arellano, Erica L. Ball, and Amanda Frisken

FEATURES

Gendered Ideologies of Violence, Authority, and Racial Difference in New York State Penitentiaries, 1796–1844
Jen Manion

“Anarchist Beauties” in Late Meiji Japan: Media Narratives of Police Violence in the Red Flag Incident
Tomoko Seto

Confronting an Enemy Abroad, Transforming a Nation at Home: Domestic Militarism in the United States, 1990–1996
Josh Cerretti

ANTIVIOLENCE ACTIVISM AND THE STATE

Fighting Back, Claiming Power: Feminist Rhetoric and Resistance to Rape in the 1970s
Catherine O. Jacquet

Protecting the Prestige of the Traditional Family: The Politics of Domestic Violence Discourse
Raphael Ginsberg
Which Black Lives Matter?: Gender, State-Sanctioned Violence, and “My Brother’s Keeper”
Xhercis Méndez

WAYS OF SEEING AND KNOWING VIOLENCE

“Stubborn Masculine Women”: Violence, Slavery, the State, and Constructions of Gender in Graaff-Reinet, 1830–1834
Carla Tsampiras

Torture, the State, and Sexual Violence against Men in Colonial India
Deana Heath

Gendered Violence and Cultural Forgetting: The Case of the Irish Magdalenes
Jennifer Yeager and Jonathan Culleton

Looking beyond the Frame: Snapshot Photography, Imperial Archives, and the US Military’s Violent Embrace of East Asia
Jessie Kindig

Boko Haram, Refugee Mimesis, and the Archive of Contemporary Gender-Based Violence
Benjamin N. Lawrance

VISUAL ESSAY

Four Images of False Positives: A Visual Essay
Luis Morán and Claudia Salamanca

CURATED SPACES

Rethinking the Egalitarian Potential of Postapartheid South Africa: Zanele Muholi’s Intervention
Efeoghene Igor

Notes on Contributors