Puerto Rico: A US Colony in a Postcolonial World?

Editors’ Introduction
Margaret Power and Andor Skotnes

(RE)VIEWS: FIVE-BOOK OVERVIEWS OF PUERTO RICAN HISTORY

Modern Puerto Rico: A First Reading List
Solsiree del Moral

The Absent State and Five Books on Puerto Rican History
Fernando Picó

INTERVIEWS: INDEPENDENTISTAS REMEMBER

“If people had not been willing to give their lives for the patria or there had not been the political prisoners, then we would be nothing,”
Interview with Lolita Lebrón
Margaret Power

“From a very early age, I had this idea about Puerto Ricanness,”
Interview with José E. López
Margaret Power

José Soler: A Life Working at the Intersections of Nationalism, Internationalism, and Working-Class Radicalism
Eric Larson
CURATED SPACES

In Search of Jack Delano’s Puerto Rico: Change and Continuity Revisited, 1941–2015
Darien Brahms

FEATURES

Repeating Islands of Debt: Historicizing the Transcolonial Relationality of Puerto Rico’s Economic Crisis
José I. Fusté

Gender, Generation, and Women’s Independence Organizing in Puerto Rico
Lisa G. Materson

Carpeteo Redux: Surveillance and Subversion against the Puerto Rican Student Movement
Marisol LeBrón

Dangerous Dependence or Productive Masculinity? Gendered Representations of Puerto Ricans in the US Press, 1940–50
Eileen J. Findlay

In Solidarity: Palestine in the Puerto Rican Political Imaginary
Sara Awartani