Coolie Woman
The Odyssey of Indenture
Gaiutra Bahadur

“Every so often a history book comes along that grips you into a cascade of compelling narrative. The writer excavates new ore from old seams. Coolie Woman is such a book, destined for a unique place in the multi-mirror of Caribbean culture.”
—John Agard, author of Half-Caste

The Journey of a Caribbean Writer
Maryse Condé
Translated by Richard Philcox

For nearly four decades, Maryse Condé, best known for her novels Segu and Windward Heights, has been at the forefront of French Caribbean literature. In this collection of essays and lectures, written over many years and in response to the challenges posed by a changing world, she reflects on the ideas and histories that have moved her.

“Condé is a born storyteller.”
—Publishers Weekly

Surveying the American Tropics
A Literary Geography from New York to Rio
Edited by Maria Cristina Fumagalli, Peter Hulme, Owen Robinson, and Lesley Wylie

Surveying the American Tropics brings together the likes of Peter Hulme, Neil Whitehead, and Richard and Sally Price, among others, to examine the literary and cultural contributions of the American Tropics—an extended Caribbean that includes the southern United States, northern South America, and the Caribbean islands.

Disturbers of the Peace
Representations of Madness in Anglophone Caribbean Literature
Kelly Baker Josephs
$24.50 | PAPER | NEW WORLD STUDIES | AMERICAN LITERATURES INITIATIVE
Exploring the prevalence of madness in Caribbean texts written in English in the mid-twentieth century, Kelly Baker Josephs focuses on celebrated writers such as Jean Rhys, V. S. Naipaul, and Derek Walcott as well as on understudied writers such as Sylvia Wynter and Erna Brodber.

The Poetics of Ethnography in Martinican Narratives
Exploring the Self and the Environment
Christina Kullberg
$27.50 | PAPER | NEW WORLD STUDIES | MODERN LANGUAGE INITIATIVE
Drawing on narratives from Martinique by Aimé Césaire, Édouard Glissant, Ina Césaire, and Patrick Chamoiseau, among others, Christina Kullberg shows how these writers turn to ethnography—even as they critique it—as an exploration and expression of the self.

The Cross-Dressed Caribbean
Writing, Politics, Sexualities
Edited by Maria Cristina Fumagalli, Bénédicte Ledent, and Roberto del Valle Alcalá
$35.00 | PAPER | NEW WORLD STUDIES
The Cross-Dressed Caribbean uses the trope of transvestism not only to analyze texts and contexts from anglophone, francophone, Spanish, Dutch, and diasporic Caribbean literature and film, but also to highlight reinventions of sexuality and resistance to different forms of exploitation and oppression.

Pathologies of Paradise
Caribbean Detours
Supriya M. Nair
$27.50 | PAPER | NEW WORLD STUDIES
Supriya Nair presents the rich complexity of anglophone Caribbean literature from pluralistic perspectives that contest the reduction of the region to Edenic or infernal stereotypes. She draws on the trope of the detour to plumb the depths of anti-paradise discourse.
TSQ offers a venue for interdisciplinary scholarship that contests the objectification, pathologization, and exoticization of transgender lives. Its mission is to examine how “transgender” comes into play as a category, a process, a social assemblage, an increasingly intelligible gender identity, and an identifiable threat to gender normativity.

The first few issues will address the cultural production of trans communities, critical analysis of transgender population studies, transgender biopolitics, and problems of translating gender concepts and practices across linguistic communities.
