Aimé Césaire: Critical Perspectives

Michaeline A. Crichlow and Gregson Davis, Special Issue Editors

Introduction 437
Michaeline A. Crichlow and Gregson Davis

Editing and Editorializing: The New Genetic Cahier of Aimé Césaire 441
Christopher L. Miller

Forging a Caribbean Literary Style: “Vulgar Eloquence” and the Language of Césaire’s Cahier d’un retour au pays natal 457
Gregson Davis

Poetry’s Circumstance and Racial Time: Aimé Césaire, 1935–1945 469
Natalie Melas

Poetic Productions of Cultural Combat in Tropiques 495
Katerina Gonzalez Seligmann

Cannibalizing Doudouisme, Conceptualizing the Morne: Suzanne Césaire’s Caribbean Ecopoetics 513
Anny Dominique Curtius

Notes on the Journey toward the Future: Négritude, Abject Blackness, and the Emancipatory Force of Spectrality 535
Patricia M. Northover and Michaeline A. Crichlow

Césaire’s Apocalyptic Word 567
John E. Drabinski

Here/Hear Now Aimé Césaire! 585
Gary Wilder
 AGAINST the DAY

Social Movements in Latin America
Verónica Gago and Diego Sztulwark, Editors

The Temporality of Social Struggle at the End of the “Progressive” Cycle in Latin America 606
Verónica Gago and Diego Sztulwark

Patriarchy from Margin to Center: Discipline, Territoriality, and Cruelty in the Apocalyptic Phase of Capital 615
Rita Laura Segato

Communal Strategies for Controlling Microfinance in Chuimeq’ena’ Guatemala 625
Gladys Tzul Tzul

What Neoliberalism Could Not Do, the MAS Can: Divergences and Compatibility between Political Forms and Capital Accumulation in Bolivia 632
Huascar Salazar Lohman

Conga Mines: Development as Conflict in Peru 640
Jorge Millones

Notes on Contributors 648