ERGO
By Jakov Lind. "One of the strangest plays to hit New York in years...a play that seems to assault both mind and senses, a play that belongs to no clear tradition and yet uses the actual medium of the theater as if it were a trampoline."—CLIVE BARNES, N.Y. Times

"Vividly demonstrates a prevalence of expressionist impulse. The play is a farrago of bitter, funny, explosive insanities from the first moment."—JACK KROLL, Newsweek $3.95; paper, $1.75

PLAYS FROM BLACK AFRICA
Edited with an introduction by Fredric M. Litto. Plays of universal appeal by some of Africa's leading black writers: The Rhythm of Violence by Lewis Nkosi; Song of the Goat by John Pepper Clark; The Rain-Killers by Alfred Hutchinson; Edufa by Efua T. Sutherland; The Jewels of the Shrine by James Ene Henshaw; and The Literary Society by Henry Ofori. $5.95; paper, $1.95

BEYOND BROADWAY
The Quest for Permanent Theatres
By Julius Novick. A complete report on professional theatres outside the pale of Shubert Alley: the Tyrone Guthrie, the Actor's Workshop (San Francisco), Stratford, Ontario and Connecticut, Lincoln Center, N.Y. Shakespeare Festival, Long Wharf (New Haven), Alley Theatre (Houston)—more than 50 in all. "Julius Novick is a sound critic...Invaluable as a guide to an aspect of the American theatre scene which is becoming even more important."—HAROLD CLURMAN. 16 pages of photographs. $7.95
