

CAN A PLAY INSPIRE A COMMUNITY TO ACTION ?

Change begins
with a question.

What will you ask?

The School of Drama at The New School questions the limits of a conventional education for stage and screen artists.

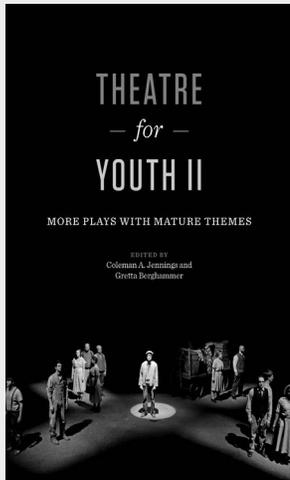

Our BFA and MFA students go beyond the typical classroom experience to engage in rigorous training in acting, directing, playwriting, and creative technologies. They collaborate with other young artists in our College of Performing Arts, as well as students across our entire university, to challenge the status quo and find their authentic voices as 21st-century artists.

Approaches to Teaching the Plays of August Wilson

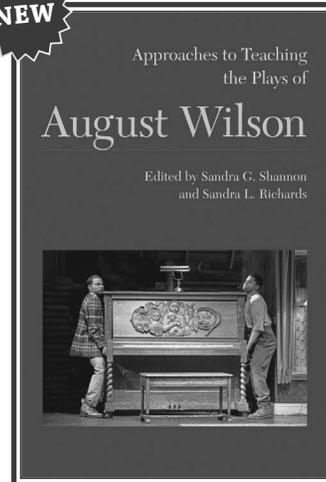

Edited by
SANDRA G. SHANNON
and SANDRA L. RICHARDS

"I am delighted with the range and quality of essays in this volume from established heavy hitters and exciting younger scholars. They are full of valuable perspectives and insights . . . that will register with both teachers and students."

—Steven Tracy
University of Massachusetts, Amherst

August Wilson used drama as a medium to write a history of twentieth-century America through the perspectives of its black citizenry. In the plays of his Pittsburgh Cycle, he mixes African spirituality with the realism of the American theater and puts African American storytelling and performance practices in dialogue with canonical writers like Aristotle and Shakespeare.

“New German Critique has been a prime mover in shaping the discipline of German studies. For forty years, it has sought to define the meanings of ‘cultural studies’ and to draw on the rich tradition of German theory as intrinsic to the shaping of those meanings.”
