You may notice something new in this issue, the section in the back of the book, which we are calling "THE BACK OF THE BOOK," contains some play and book reviews of current interest along with a couple of theatre poems. We will continue to organize our magazine around a single subject or theme, but will now keep part of each issue open for reviews, poems, debates, letters—any material that is lively, current, important. The section in this issue is our tentative beginning; succeeding sections will be continually expanded, and we eagerly solicit contributions from our readers and supporters. Send reviews, ideas for reviews, short essays, letters, etc., to the editor, 2046 Yale Station, New Haven, Ct., 06520.
